

Marc Wallert

Marc Wallert (MBA, MSc), Spiegel bestselling author and keynote speaker, is an expert when it comes to resilience. He „abducts“ his audience into the jungle and impressively shows how to come through crises strong and emerge from them stronger. In doing so, he combines leadership and ENT leadership experience. Not only has he worked for 15 years as an executive in international companies, but he has also survived 20 weeks as a hostage in the Philippine jungle. With his jungle strategies, you and your team can also stay strong in uncertain situations, from Corona to Digital Transformation. His clients include well-known small and medium-sized enterprises as well as international corporations. The sought-after crisis and resilience expert is known from radio and television and knows how to make the mechanisms of psychological resistance called resilience tangible in an entertaining way. With Marc Wallert you book a keynote with „goose bumps effect“ that is guaranteed to be remembered.
